State of the City speech scheduled for Feb. 22

PARMA, Ohio -- Mayor Tim DeGeeter will offer the first State of the City address of his second term on Monday evening, Feb. 22 at 7 p.m.

Continuing the trend he started when he entered office in 2012, the mayor will showcase a community partner by taking his speech outside of City Hall. This year, the speech will be delivered at the United Auto Workers Local 1005 Hall, located at 5615 Chevrolet Blvd.

Past speeches have been held at Parma Hospital, Cuyahoga County Public Library and OSG Tool.

“Our administration’s approach has always been to combine common sense and hard work to produce real results,” DeGeeter says. “We’re proud to share some of those results at the State of the City address.”

The speech is open to the public.
